

PETROCOLLAPSE

Fossil Fuel Decline and the Possibility for Culture Change

Los Angeles

January 28th – 29th

Saturday, Jan 28th, 7 PM

Sherman Oaks

The End Of Oil: Realities & Solutions of the Looming Petroleum Shortage

VALLEY CITIES JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER 13164 Burbank Blvd., (between Fulton & Coldwater)
Sherman Oaks
$5 suggested donation
7:00 to 10:00 PM, doors open
6:30 PM

Speakers: Jan Lundberg, Paul Koretz and Ed Begley. Moderated
by Mimi Kennedy

Documentary screening: "The Power of Community; How Cuba
Survived Peak Oil"

Community Discussion

Sunday, Jan 29th, 2 PM

South Central Farm

Petrocollapse and Food Security

South Central Community Farm
41st and Long Beach Ave.
0.3 miles north of the Blue Line
Metro Vernon Station
2:00 to 5:00 PM

Speakers: Jan Lundberg and Tezozomoc (more info below)

The 350 families that tend this 14-acre farm are under threat of eviction as the farm has been sold by the city to a warehouse developer. The developer has not taken control of the property yet only because of community support, and the determination of local activists, but the future of this farm is uncertain. The discussion will address issues of food security as fossil fuels decline, and will provide information on how we can help save the farm.

www.southcentralfarmers.com

Sunday, Jan 29th, 7 PM

Pasadena

Petrocollapse and the Possibility of Culture Change

Throop Memorial Unitarian Universalist Church
300 S Los Robles
Pasadena, CA, 91004
0.5 miles East of the Goldline
Metro Del Mar Station
$5-10 suggested donation
7:00 to 10:00 PM, doors open
6:30 PM

Speakers: Jan Lundberg and a World Can't Wait representative

Documentary screening: "The Power of Community; How Cuba Survived Peak Oil" and "Our Synthetic Sea"

There will be time for discussion after the speakers and screening.

Jan Lundberg, former oil industry analyst and founder of Auto Free Times and culturechange.org, will speak about the realities of current petroleum resources, and how a dramatic shift in our lifestyle can save us from abrupt loss of energy and the petroleum materials we all depend on.

www.culturechange.org

Paul Koretz, State Assembly member, will tell us what role politics can play in this scenario and what we can do to encourage our elected officials to take this problem seriously and to ensure we have the energy we need.

Ed Begley, Jr., actor, activist and inspirational speaker will outline how we can change our daily routines to be independent of oil and still enjoy our lives!

Mimi Kennedy, actor and activist.

Tezozomoc, is an organizer with South Central Farmers Feeding Families. He will speak about the plight of the farm tended by low-income families that grow food to feed themselves and about ways to help save the farm.

World Can't Wait, World Can't Wait Drive out The Bush Regime is organizing to create a political environment where the direction our leaders our taking us is reversed. They will speak on grassroots organizing on diverse issues including issues of fossil fuel dependency and climate change. www.worldcantwait.org

For updated event info or to download a flyer, visit www.lapostcarbon.org.

Jan 28th event organized by Neighbors for Peace & Justice San Fernando Valley, 818-906-7757, neighborsteve2002@yahoo.com. Jan 29th events sponsored by Pasadena Post Carbon, eric@einem.us, 626-796-7325.

Farmers camping out to defend the farm